

Barbara Heath – Promotional Workbook

My Label, Role or Title: Jeweller to the Lost

My Work: I use the term Lost in its highest sense;
if we are lost - then we know we are searching.
I like to make jewellery for people who are searching . . .
we collude, we conspire 1+1 = good alchemy.

A hierarchy of value exists in the materials a jeweller might use, of course platinum and rubies are sublime, I too am seduced by their powers - but hierarchies are ripe for subversion. I equally like to recycle my clients' own treasures, those 'inherited' materials are always more sentimentally loaded.